

Hearing impairment

Current as of: September 16, 2015

- The American Academy of Otolaryngology- Head and Neck Surgery:
This is the world's largest organization of ear, nose and throat experts.
<http://www.entnet.org/>
- HearingCenterOnline.com:
The online hearing dictionary focuses on audiological terms.
<http://www.hearingcenteronline.com/diction.shtml>
- Royal National Institute for the Deaf:
This website provides information, support and preventive measures for hearing impairments.
<http://www.rnid.org.uk/>
- The EAR Foundation:
Website of the EAR Foundation with information regarding the topic "hearing", especially for those dealing professionally with hearing impairments.
<http://www.earfoundation.org.uk/index.php>
- British Tinnitus Association:
This website provides information, support and preventive measures for the ear disease called tinnitus.
<http://www.tinnitus.org.uk/>
- Beginnings for parents:
BEGINNINGS for Parents of Children Who are Deaf or Hard of Hearing. Contains a large amount of information.
<http://www.ncbegin.org/>
- Hearing Health Foundation:
Extensive information for hearing-impaired people and those dealing with hearing-impaired people in their job or private lives.
<http://hearinghealthfoundation.org/>
- hear it (Ger., Eng., Fr., Sp.):
This website provides general information, support and preventive measures.
<http://www.hear-it.org/>
- The International Bureau for Audiophonology (Ger., Eng., Fr., Sp.):
<http://www.biap.org>
- Ear, nose and throat therapeutics:
German Association for Otolaryngology, Head and Neck Surgery.
<https://www.hno.org/en/>
- Parents Council for Deaf Education:
On this website, parents and friends of hearing impaired children will find a wealth of information directly on hearing impairment, but also on supporting services.
<http://www.pcde.org>